Pitcher Tooze Allows Only Three Hits in 17 Inning Game

Local Boys Win County Legion Title

By ROGER CONLEE
The Jack Hanna Pontiac junior baseball club, made up of 10 Lemon Grove and four La Mesa boys, won the County American Legion ball championship last week in a string of exciting playoff games. Last Tuesday the Hannas played the North Park Geks to a 17 inning scoreless tie. The game was finally called off because of darkness. Hero's honors went to Freddie Tooze, who held the foes in check the entire length of the game while giving only three hits.

Wednesday the two teams went at it again at Navy Field and the locals took a 2-1 contest from the Geks as Jerry Hurst pitched a one-hitter. This victory put the Hannas in the finals against the Boys Club.

Friday afternoon the string of games leading to the title ended as the Hannas dumped the Boys Club Geks, 3-4, at Lane Field. Tight pitching by Tooze and clutch hitting by third baseman Bill Conlee brought Jack Hanna the championship.

Wm. Shearer Out for Assembly

William K. Shearer, 8455 Dexter Dr., announced today that he will seek election to the office of State Assemblyman from the newly created 17th district in San Diego County. Shearer has been active in San Diego politics since 1948.

A native Californian, Shearer was born in Marysville, where his father was city engineer and county surveyor. Both of his grandfathers were born in covered wagons crossing the plains in the great westward movement which resulted in California statehood.

The candidate is a graduate of the Grossmont Union High school and is at present studying political science and economics at San Diego State College. He has been employed by a retail drug company since 1946.

Shearer is an active member of the executive board of the San Diego County Young Republicans and has twice represented San Diego as a delegate to the State Young Republican Convention.

He has also been active in speaking before business and service clubs, women's groups, and Republican organizations. A major theme of these talks has been opposition to world revolutionary communism and the growing menace of socialism.

Speaking at the East San Diego Republicans Women's Club today, Shearer commented on his candidacy:

"The growing menace of socialism and Federal control over the daily lives of the American people can be answered only by strong and alert State governments. Recent Federal interference in California's tidelands and water problems has further emphasized the need for vital and effective State governments to combat unwarranted Federal interference."

"Much has been said about the national and international problem of world revolutionary communism. But many people have failed to recognize this menace as a vital State concern. The State Government can be most effective in combating communism and to that end I pledge myself if elected."

Local Editor Tells of Big Scoop of 50 Years Ago

G. R. Graham, publisher of the Review, told the Kiwanians Wednesday noon how he scooped the world on the publishing of a picture of Leon Czolgosz, assassin of President William McKinley 50 years ago September 5.

The writer was publishing an amateur newspaper at Odebolt, Iowa, at the turn of the century, and his paper appeared every Saturday. McKinley was shot Friday afternoon at Buffalo, N. Y., and a telegraphic description of the assassin talked with a cut already in his possession, and he ran it over Czolgosz's name.

Being before the days of wire photos, airplanes and fast engraving processes, the daily newspapers of the country did not print a picture of Czolgosz for several days.

The publisher also recalled some of his experiences as a printer and publisher over the past 55 years. He started in the printing business as a printer's devil when he was but 9 years old, and has made it his vocation ever since.

The Kiwanis Club passed a resolution commending the publisher of the Review on their impartiality in supporting all organizations and churches of Lemon Grove and for continually publicizing the potentialities of Lemon Grove through Review columns.

Over 2000 Pupils Enrolled in School

First day enrollments in the Lemon Grove School District were heavy, as expected—2070 pupils enrolled the first day. The enrollment last September was 1752, thus making an increase of 322. It is interesting to note that it would require a complete 10-room school to house this increase in enrollment.

Two years ago it was necessary to predict this September enrollment as a basis for submitting an application for an allocation of funds for new school buildings. The estimated enrollment figures approved by the State Department of Education was 2073.

While the overall enrollment prediction was extremely close, the number of kindergarten pupils exceeded the number anticipated. School officials explain that this is due to the number of younger families purchasing new homes in the district.

All things considered the first day of school presented very few crises. The pre-registration of pupils and the pre-planning on the part of teachers helped get the school year underway in an orderly manner.

William Louis Thomas was born on July 3, 1880 in Cornwall, England. He came to America 50 years ago and had lived in Lemon Grove the past 18 years. He conducted a blacksmith shop on Broadway near Buena Vista until about a year ago when he sold his business and retired.

He passed away suddenly Sunday evening from a heart attack, at his home at 7884 Broadway.

Mr. Thomas was an expert ornamental iron worker. He was of a quiet nature, kind hearted and a good citizen.

L. G. School PTA to Hold Opening Meeting of Year

The first meeting of the Lemon Grove School P. T. A. will be held next Thursday evening at 7:30. At this time all teachers of the school will be introduced and everyone will have an opportunity to meet his children's teachers and his neighbors. Mrs. Marian L. Kinyon, program chairman, has planned a delightful "get-together" and urges all patrons of our schools to attend this initial meeting. Refreshments will be served by the eighth grade room mothers.

During the pre-school workshop, the Lemon Grove Board, with the Vista La Mesa and Monterey Heights Boards, served dessert to the school personnel in the school cafeteria. The presidents, room mother chairmen and hospitality chairmen were introduced.

Rally Day at Lutheran Church

Lemon Grove Lutheran Church, Skyline and Alton Drives, will have its Annual Congregational rally day on Sunday. Each member and friend of the congregation is urged to be present at the service. The purpose behind the Special Service is an attempt to have every member and friend of the congregation present on the one same Sunday, and to reconsecrate themselves toward faithful church attendance.

Pastor Elster will speak on a subject especially appropriate for the occasion: "The Call to Worship."

This evening the Young People's Luther League will be meeting at the church at 6:00 p. m. for its monthly outing, which is a beach party at the Cove of the Silver Strand.

Sunday will also be a Rally and Promotion day for the Sunday School, with a special program arranged by the classes of the Sunday School.

Mrs. Phillip Titmas accepted chairmanship of a Food Sale to be held in the Plaza south of Broadway on September 29.

Many other plans were discussed for Fall activities, both financial and social.

Install New Pastor at VLM Church

Donald C. Jones, new minister at Vista La Mesa Christian Church will be formally installed Sunday at the morning service at 10:45. Conducting the installation and bringing the sermon will be Dr. Clifford A. Cole, Christian Church State secretary, who will arrive from Los Angeles Saturday for the service.

Rev. Jones took the pulpit on Sunday, August 16, a week after his marriage to the former Miss Kathleen Whitten. The 25-year-old graduate of Northwest Christian College is the son of Rev. Lester Jones, who is serving as pastor of the Nampa, Idaho Christian Church for the 22nd year.

A potluck dinner will be held in the church social hall immediately after the service, honoring Dr. Cole, Rev. Jones, and Rev. Robert L. Dougherty, who served as ad interim pastor for six months. All members of the congregation and local residents interested in the work of the church are invited to attend both the service and the dinner and meet the new pastoral leaders.

Presbyterians Add to Parking Space

Grading will be completed this week on the grounds back of the United Presbyterian Church, 426 Harbison Ave. This two-acre plot of ground, purchased at the time the new church was built two years ago, will provide off-street parking facilities, recreation area, outdoor barbecue and patio, and a church garden. It is planned to include in the plantings and landscaping many trees, shrubs, etc., that are mentioned in the Bible. The Board of Trustees of the Church, Wm. J. Scharf, chairman, has placed the general planning and direction of this work in the hands of a committee headed by Shasta H. Trapp. Much of the work will be done by seven teams of men from the Men's Brotherhood, directed by Gilbert W. Hopkins. Other organizations and groups in the church will take responsibility for various specific projects in the master plan.

Says the pastor, Rev. Leon E. Raines, "It will take a long time before we have all our ground improved exactly as we want it, but our folks know where they're going in all this—and they're on their way!"

Workshop Readies Staff for Job Ahead

At a general meeting of faculty members from the entire Lemon Grove School District on Tuesday of last week, Byron L. Netzel, district superintendent, and S. K. Solleder, director of education, were co-chairmen at the opening of the four day pre-school workshop.

Following the introduction of teachers by the principals, Mr. Netzel spoke on the urgent need and importance of strengthening the ties between the school and the community. He said that such ties foster complete understanding and full cooperation and so continue to make education our greatest safeguard of democracy.

Mrs. Ada Krinsky, vocal music supervisor, introduced the new materials which will be available this year and presented some excellent new units which have been prepared for use in kindergarten through the eighth grades.

At 10:30, after coffee had been served by the cafeteria staff, the district teachers' association held its first business meeting of the term with Robert Sutton, president, presiding. Luncheon was served at noon to the teachers and administrators by Mrs. Ruth Pfister, cafeteria manager, Mrs. Frieda Perkins and Mrs. Bessie Taylor.

During the grade-level meetings at the afternoon session, the groups selected chairmen and recorders for the year, and then began discussion of problems which will be studied during the year. These grade-level meetings will be held monthly on the fourth Thursday during the school year in an effort to develop unity and teamwork; improve procedures, techniques and methods; aid in professional growth; and achieve curriculum improvement.

The second day of workshop saw all new teachers to the district. Continued on page 8

of Main Street and the World

Threat of Inflation Increases As Price Index Hits a New High

INFLATION THREAT—With the government's report that the consumers' price index rose to a record level last month, the dangers of inflation took first place in the week's news.

The bureau of labor statistics reported the index figure went from 183.2 to 185.3. This means the retail prices of goods and services bought by moderate-income families averaged 85.3 per cent higher than the average between 1935 and 1939. This is 9 per cent above the level before the Korean war.

It also means that more than 3,000,000 workers who have cost-of-living escalator clauses in their contracts will receive automatic raises of approximately 1 cent per hour.

Industry member of the wage stabilization board, who recently approved escalator clauses in union contracts, warned when the new index figures were announced that the arrangement is not based on sound economic principles. "Putting all workers, manufacturers, farmers and merchants on escalation may easily prove the first step to national bankruptcy," the group warned.

The average home owner seems to have the feeling that runaway inflation is dangerously near. If each group in the nation's economy continues trying to get ahead of every other, then the economic situation may explode into a mad race that can lead to ruin.

Food and rent prices are credited with pushing the index figures to the new high. Food prices averaged 12.1 per cent higher than in June, 1950, just before the Korean war. There are indications of further increases. Large dealers are reported demanding boosts of 1 to 6 cents an item for well known brands of flour, breakfast cereals, canned fruit and vegetables, vinegar, mayonnaise and spaghetti.

PRICE CONTROLS—While the average home owner views the price picture with increasing fear, President Truman asked congress for three major changes in the new price controls law.

The President asked repeal of: (1) The provision requiring that price ceilings reflect rises in business costs that have occurred since Korea. ("An economic booby trap," Truman called it.); (2) The amendment giving wholesalers and retailers their customary percentage markups; (3) The amendment banning the OPS livestock-slaughter quotas, under which each slaughterer was told how many animals he could handle.

No one can predict how congress will react to the President's requests, but the average small town American, whatever his political views and his beliefs concerning the cause of higher prices, wants something done about it. He realizes the nation is in as much danger today from its internal economic picture as from external enemies; he feels it is time for personal interests and politics to take a back seat to the nation's welfare.

WESTERN POLITICS—Democratic party representatives from 15 midwest states, as far east as Ohio and as far west as Wyoming, the great farm belt that came to President Truman's rescue in 1948, met at French Lick, Ind., to discuss possibilities for 1952. Their conclusions were startling to the average home owner.

Briefly, they concluded that President Truman will be a candidate for reelection and that he can defeat Sen. Robert Taft. Should Gen. Eisenhower seek the office he could have had in 1948, then Mr. Truman's bid will not be so good.

On basis for these startling conclusions, the democratic leaders believe the President would get a large farm vote as he did in 1948 because farm prices have been high during his administration. A continued high level of domestic prosperity without inflation would also add to his chances, they concluded.

They also pointed out that Truman was denied New York's 47 electoral votes by the candidacy of Henry A. Wallace and those of four southern states by the Dixiecrats. This is unlikely in the 1952 campaign. The big question, of course, is Gen. Eisenhower. The general is a midwesterner, and it would not be difficult to sell a national hero to the people in the home towns.

THE NEW FEAR—The latest news from Korea would indicate the Chinese Communists are beset with a new fear, that of world condemnation for breaking off the Kaesong peace talks. It is the only reasonable conclusion since the Reds announced the talks can continue if the Allies will admit a plane tried to murder the Communist delegates by dropping explosive bombs and jelled gasoline near their quarters.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who previously rejected their charge as a fake and a fraud, is unlikely to accede to their demand. Ridgway has informed the Reds that their neutrality-violation charges are nothing more than malicious lies, deliberately manufactured for propaganda effect and unworthy of reply.

As long as both parties maintain this attitude there is little hope for a resumption of talks. And even if they should be resumed, other incidents will be manufactured by the Reds to further their propaganda aims. Peace in Korea will not be restored until one side or the other is thoroughly and completely defeated.

JAPANESE TREATY—On Tuesday 34 nations gathered at San Francisco to sign the proposed peace treaty with Japan. Russia is represented, but no one expects her to sign the document which is sponsored by the United States. To the contrary, she will do everything in her power to wreck the treaty negotiations and eventually will present her own versions of a pact.

The big news as the conference opened was India's boycott of the meeting. That country's denunciation of the treaty was in direct line with Moscow propaganda and will have many repercussions in this nation's foreign aid program. It may lead to a tougher U.S. policy toward India and a reduction in aid given her in recent months. It may also mean that a number of other countries will suffer as a direct result of India's stand.

From now until the conference closes, the people in the home towns of the country can expect a flood of Soviet propaganda against the treaty. In fact, one of the greatest propaganda slanders the world has ever seen is about to begin.

Eva Peron, wife of President Juan Peron of Argentina, often called the most powerful woman in the world, has been nominated to be her husband's running mate as Vice-President in the November 11 elections. The election is only a formality under Argentina's dictatorship. She would be the first woman in history to hold such a high office in the Americas.

THIS IS CHINA

Peiping Demands Life Data on Everyone

The Communists in China have demanded a combination confession and autobiography for millions of persons in the country whom the Reds find necessary to re-educate in the new attitudes of Chinese communism. It is a complete record and repudiation of the past life of the individuals concerned.

The document serves as a domestic passport that must be produced whenever the possessor seeks a new job, wants to move from one part of the country to another, or from some other reason, comes under official scrutiny.

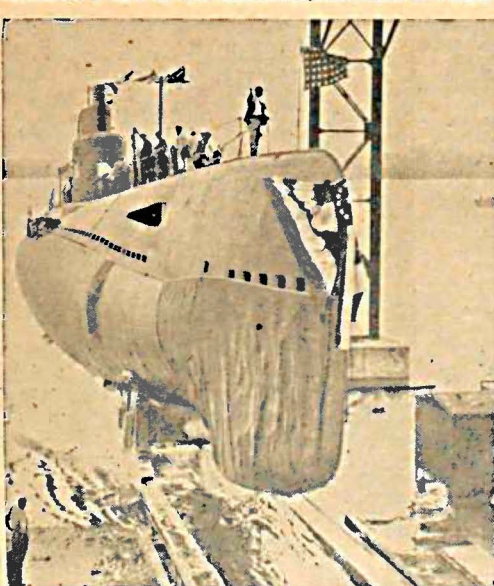

The person under examination may have made money on the stock market or gone to a U.S. university. Whatever it is, these must be confessed and branded as bad and wrong.

PAVE IT WITH FLOWERS . . . The inhabitants of the little Italian town of Genzano pave their main street with flowers for the town's Corpus Domini celebration. The young girls collect the thousands of tons of flowers used while back in the town boys and old men prepare the flowers and the recs for the floral carpet. Other crews engage in the actual artistic creation—first making chalk designs on the street and then placing flowers in line with the marks.

LOVELY FIGUREHEAD . . . Movie star Virginia Mayo poses for famed sculptor Yucca Salamunich as he designs a figurehead for a schooner which is to be built in the near future in Norway. The age-old custom of installing feminine figures on the bows of ships is believed about due for a revival in the 20th century. The builder of the ship asked Sculptor Salamunich to select the most beautiful Hollywood woman for a model.

PRELUDE TO ATOM SUB . . . Third of a new class of fast attack submarines now being built, the USS Trout takes to the water at Groton, Conn. The navy announced the award of a contract for its first atomic-powered sub which would be capable of speeds up to 60 knots an hour. The Trout was sponsored by the widow of Lt. Comm. Albert Clark, USN, who was commanding officer of the earlier Trout when she was lost in action off the China coast in 1944.

TWO TURTLES . . . Here are two automobiles which are in a race from Chicago to New York, 1100 miles. The two cars have been completely rebuilt by the men who race them. In the cars are Jack Brause, 26 (left), who will pilot the 1913 Stanley Steamer, and Rube DeLaunty, 70 (right), who will drive the 1911 Stoddard-Dayton. These fellows 50 years ago argued about the relative merits of the internal combustion engine and the steam engine as driving power.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Youth Rally

I HAVE just spent an evening behind the Iron Curtain. It's not hard to do here in Berlin where no guards patrol the line between the Russian and American sectors and where, if you flash a White House press card and look reasonably important, you can attend even the most exclusive of the Communist youth shows.

Berlin tonight is a city of vivid dramatic contrast—miles of bunting and flags everywhere, flags of every nation but particularly and ironically the flag of peace. Sandwiched in between almost every national flag is the blue and white emblem of peace. Standing out against the gaunt bomb-battered ruins of Berlin, they made a genuine appeal to the tired population which never wants to see war again.

Across from the Kaiser's once-ornate palace which the Russians tore down and removed piece by piece, a great platform stood in front of the bomb-battered museum. The inside was an empty shell but outside a Russian ballet, a girl in Georgian costume, and Finnish folk dancers all performed. It was Russia's youth exhibition and you had to admit it was good. Light, acoustics and staging were all perfect; the music excellent and the dancing superb. I couldn't tell what the girl in the Georgian costume said when she sang a ballad dedicated to Stalin and I don't think many of the German Communists could, either. But they liked her voice and applauded just the same.

Rally No Flop

To read the headlines in American newspapers you got the impression that the Berlin youth rally was a flop. It wasn't. No rally which brings 2,000,000 youngsters together from all parts of the world is a flop and it's no use kidding ourselves.

The state department, with a meagre budget, did a miraculous job of attracting a quarter of a million German youths into the western sector, giving them food, literature and a sight of the vastly better living standards on our side of the Iron Curtain. But when the rally was only half over, orders came to close up certain youth depots. The food was costing $12 per day at one center and the State Department's budget was exhausted. Congressmen Taber of New York, Cleveland of Ohio and other economists had pinched too many pennies and a great opportunity was thus snuffed out.

However, three-quarters of a million other youngsters never entered West Berlin. They braved the straw spread out in schoolrooms for them at night, put up with the poor Communist food and attended ballyhoo programs, all for the sake of Communism.

Ami, Go Home!

If you arrived early enough and flashed a White House press card, a U. S. military pass or even a District of Columbia police pass, an American could get into the most popular and packed performance of all—the North Korean. Seeing the Korean show gave some idea of the propaganda barrage this youth congress was subjected to. The highlight of their performance was a dance operetta in which a Korean mother, her child killed by Americans, is the heroine. The scene which really brought down the house was that in which she throws three grenades into an American camp. Three Americans then tear her clothes half off and take turns beating her while she takes from her blouse the flag of the Peoples Republic. Then, just as the Americans tie her to a tree preparing to shoot her, a shot rings out and Korean guerrillas come to her rescue. The heroine then shows an American officer at point-blank range.

At this point, the audience goes wild; there is 20 minutes of applause; the Korean actors get curtain call after curtain call and Russian ladies rush up to embrace the embarrassed but happy Korean orchestra leader. The audience then leaves, chanting "Ami, Go Home!"—the slogan of derision for Americans thrown at us from the Adriatic to the Baltic.

This is a sample of the propaganda drilled in on the youths at the rally and there's no use in kidding ourselves about its effect.

West Point Firings

The cheating of the 90 cadets at West Point was played up in the European press. The man in the street didn't pay much attention to it. But among top-level Europeans and the many Americans over here, there was considerable reaction.

As one American, now able to get a long-range view of his own country, it seems to me that we have experienced a dangerous moral lapse in recent years.

HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS

Two American Documents To Be Enshrined on Constitution Day

America's most precious historical documents—the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence—will be enshrined permanently in hermetically sealed glass enclosures at a ceremony Monday, (Sept. 17) Constitution Day.

The ceremony, in which President Truman and Chief Justice Vinson are scheduled to participate, is expected to be one of the most impressive ever held in the history of

In a test sealing, Dr. Roy W. Wampler, assistant director of research for Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company; Alvin W. Kremer, of the library of congress, and Dr. G. M. Kline, of the national bureau of standards, show how the original documents of the constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence will be preserved permanently in helium-filled glass cases.

The parchments, particularly since this will be the last time the documents will be touched by human hands. Scientists say the enclosures will preserve the papers "for as long as man can foresee."

After the ceremony the sealed leaves will be replaced in their Shrine in the Library, where they have been viewed by an estimated 20,000,000 persons in the last 27 years. The display of the single page of the Declaration and the five leaves of the Constitution is expected to attract even greater throngs of sightseers after the ceremony.

Plans for preserving the original engrossed and signed manuscripts are the result of studies and experiments made during the last 10 years by the national bureau of standards at the request of Luther H. Evans, librarian of congress. During the last two years the library and the NBS have been assisted by thermopane technicians of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, who perfected the special metal-to-glass seal used to keep the glass cases airtight.

"Every resource of science and technology has been applied in the effort to make these precious documents as permanently secure as the principles they proclaim," said Dr. Evans.

DR. EDWARD U. CONDON, director of the national bureau of standards, explained that exhaustive tests were conducted before the NBS scientists and the library decided this was the best method of protecting the documents and at the same time making it possible to continue to exhibit them publicly.

The glass enclosures, basically the same as the thermopane insulating glass used in thousands of American homes, will be filled with helium, an inert gas, as a further measure of protection for the documents. Even the relative humidity inside the cases is controlled to prevent the parchments from expanding or shrinking.

The early history of these documents was dramatic and especially in the case of the Declaration of Independence which is 175 years old this year—involved much rough handling during the Revolution and the War of 1812. During the last generation, however, the library has protected them carefully and this latest improvement in the method of display is expected to preserve them intact for future generations of Americans.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Renovate Your Summer Clothing Before Putting it Into Storage

By Ertia Haley

Classic Fall Suit

WOOLENS are not the only kinds of clothing to be protected against insect damage before storage. Cottons, rayons and other materials worn during summer need their share of attention if you expect to wear them again.

In fact, anything which is worn during summer, then put away should be renovated carefully. Moths and other insects just love to inhabit closed and undisturbed boxes and closets, especially when clothing and shoes have not been properly cleaned before they're put away.

A few hours spent now in reconditioning clothing will save you dollars next Spring and Summer when you'll want these items to wear. Another factor to consider, too, is that you'll be able immediately to decide if the clothing will be in style and fit, when it's pressed and clean.

The same thought applies to shoes and hats. Shoes, if not cleaned have a way of degenerating in storage. Cleaned, dried or polished, then properly packed, they are a lovely surprise when you want them again. They seem to have gained in niceness, and what's better than an attractive pair of shoes which you know fit and feel comfortable?

To make this whole task of storage easier, sort out the work over a period of several days so that you can do it properly without tiring. Plan, for example, to do dresses on two days, one for washing and the other for ironing and storage. On another day, gather all summer shoes and put them in condition.

Get together the proper equipment such as cleaning agents, large boxes, tissue paper and plastic bags. Having all materials well assembled makes this, as well as any other job, easier to finish.

Sort Clothing For Storage

There are several different ways of sorting summer clothing. You will probably have some which can take only dry cleaning, so naturally all of these should be together. Take them down and, if possible, have them all put in mothproof bags which are sealed. Then they're all ready to hang in a closet.

clean summer shoes before storage.

Washable cottons and rayons are sorted in a pile of their own. Go over each garment carefully and do spot removal before laundering. Some will need hand laundry while others can be tossed in the machine, possibly with regular washing.

If you're certain that you'll be wearing certain cottons another season, wash, starch, dry and press as usual. Hang every garment after pressing to make certain it is completely dry and thus prevent any mildew damage. These may be stored in plastic bags to hang from a rod, or boxed.

When any apparel is boxed, you should use tissue paper in between the folds to prevent wrinkling. The boxes in which they are placed should be airtight. If they are not, you should use zippered plastic bags for the clothes before boxing. Another solution is to wrap the box with heavy brown paper and seal it carefully with cellophane tape so that no dirt can be sifted through to the clothing.

In case you're not certain of wearing some dress again, do not press it after laundering. Fold away neatly and store as the other garments so dirt cannot collect. If you do decide to wear again, the clothing is clean and needs only pressing.

Label all boxes as to contents. Then you'll be able to find a garment readily if you want it before any of the others.

Here are Tips For Your Shoes

Your first step in renovating shoes is to have them repaired. Check over the whole summer shoe wardrobe and have heels, soles and inner linings repaired on all those you'll be wearing again.

White and pastel fabric shoes which look too weary for any real cleaning can be re-dyed to look like new. This can be done professionally, or at home.

Here's how to "brush-dye" shoes at home: use an all-purpose dye dissolving in 1/2 to 3/4 the package in about 1 cup of hot water. Strain through gauze or cheesecloth into an additional pint of hot water. Mix thoroughly, and use small, even strokes with a small paint brush to apply to the shoes.

Shoes should never be immersed in the dye solution. Smooth the solution around the soles with an old toothbrush. Let dry thoroughly.

After shoes are cleaned and polished or re-dyed, it's best to put shoe trees in them. If you don't have the shoe trees to spare for storage, wad tissue paper into the toes and heels. Wrap more tissue paper around the shoes and place in shoe boxes or small plastic bags for storage.

All shoes can be put in a large box and labeled before wrapping. In this way you have them all together and will know exactly the state and size of the shoe wardrobe when you want to use them.

While you have dyeing solution made for the shoes, check over fabric or straw belts, as well as gloves. You may want to renovate these by dipping them in the dye.

Straw, Fabric and Suede Shoes Need Special Cleaning

An old toothbrush and a dish of soap or detergent lather will do wonders for straw shoes as well as handbags. First wipe the shoes or bag with a small amount of clear water. "Test clean" in an inconspicuous spot such as on the inside of the heel to make certain the lather will do no damage.

Some scuff marks on straw shoes can be removed with an art gum eraser.

Linen and shantung shoes can be cleaned with soap or detergent lather also. Follow the cleaning by wiping with clear water, but use very little, doing a small portion at a time. Do not place the shoes near direct heat or in the sun to dry as this may harden them or cause them to lose shape.

Suede shoes and accessories do well with thorough brushing. There are brushes made for this, small and stiff-bristled.

If suede shoes need more attention, they can be steamed after the brushing. If your ironer has a shoe which tilts back, put a wet towel on the tilted back ironer shoe and hold the shoe near it while the steam comes off. You may use a steam iron, or just boil water in a saucepan while holding the shoe over it. Patent and calf shoes can be wiped carefully with a soft cloth for their initial cleaning. Then apply a shoe cream and polish the surface shiny with a cloth or chamois.

Put Your Accessories Into Good Condition

Nothing is so depressing as a battered or dusty hat that was pretty good before it was put away! You may never be able to get these hats in shape to wear again unless you put them away properly.

Have summer felts cleaned and blocked, then fill the crown with tissue paper and put in a large enough box. Cover box with brown wrapping paper and seal to prevent dust from filtering inside.

THE LUCKY LESLIE

By Helen Langworthy

THE FICTION CORNER

THEY CALL ME Lucky Leslie—not because I'm so lucky but because of my wife Celia and her phobia. Sure, lots of people believe in luck, omens and that stuff. But you could cover half the country before you'd find anyone the equal of my Celia for ideas on luck. It's not ordinary garden variety luck that Celia talks about either—not four leaf clovers, new moons and rabbit's feet. Oh, no! Celia goes in for lucky numbers. In her book, 7 is the luckiest, 3 is a fair number and 6 you skid by with eyes shut and hands clenched.

Celia believes if you have good fortune doing a thing a certain queer way once, then if you repeat it—bingo!—you're fortunate. If Celia were to find a diamond on the corner of Main street on the 7th of the month and while wearing a red rain coat; she would believe that next month, come the 7th, she could find the same rain coat (no matter if the sun was blazing), go back and find a ruby. The queer part of it is—Celia would.

When we were married in those unpleasant days of '43, I had leave from the 15th of one month to the next. We had known each other for a couple years, Celia and I. If I'd had my way we'd have been married the 15th. But Celia said, "The 7th—that's the day for luck." Even reminding her that that date was a century away and that we would be married but a few days before I went back into action wouldn't swerve her. The 7th it was. To this day Celia believes the reason I wasn't amongst the 100 killed in our regiment was because we were married on the 7th. And maybe she's right!

Take our son—the doctor said David would be born on June 26th, Celia said she chose July 3rd. The doctor snorted, "Choose!" But David was born on the 3rd of July at 7 o'clock—just like Celia had predicted.

Her strongest belief is that things happen in 3's. If there's a big train wreck, Celia expects the third. When David had measles and chicken pox inside of 2 months, I thought it enough. Celia said there would be more. He came down with the mumps on the 6th. If we have unexpected company 2 nights in a row, Celia makes a batch of cookies and waits for someone to drop in without warning. They always do!

BUT even Celia couldn't find enough lucky omens or charms to counteract the 6th of the month that was rushing at us. Old Crawford, head of Crawford Corporation said business was so bad that half the office crew would be through on the 6th. I was one of the last taken on.

The 6th was coming and I had a good idea of who was going to get a pink dismissal slip in their pay envelope. Celia said she would try to think of something. Ha! We both knew we were whistling in the dark.

Early the morning of that fateful day David woke with a terrific stomach ache. Two hours later he went to the hospital for an appendicitis operation. I know, operations aren't unusual. But it was blow number one—of three. At breakfast our toaster popped sparks and smoke instead of toast. Celia chattered about the low cost of repairs. But I knew she was thinking to herself "the second trouble."

Like they had gone into deep mourning, that's the way the office force looked. I tried to write up orders like it was just any day, instead of the 6th. Celia telephoned to say she had dropped her wrist watch and broken it. Now why was a trivial thing like that worth a telephone call? Women!

Then the pay checks came. Mine didn't have a pink slip. I could have danced on my desk top. I rushed home to tell Celia the good news and that her theory was wrong. She took it casually. "Remember my watch," she asked blandly. "That was the third blow, see?"

But do you know something funny? She said she dropped it. I found her shoe on the dresser amidst some bits of broken glass, and some glass was stuck in the heel. You don't suppose the heel of her shoes met that watch on purpose—or, do you?

But Celia said, "The 7th—that's the day for luck."

But it was blow number one—of three. At breakfast our toaster popped sparks and smoke instead of toast. Celia chattered about the low cost of repairs. But I knew she was thinking to herself "the second trouble."

Like they had gone into deep mourning, that's the way the office force looked. I tried to write up orders like it was just any day, instead of the 6th. Celia telephoned to say she had dropped her wrist watch and broken it. Now why was a trivial thing like that worth a telephone call? Women!

Then the pay checks came. Mine didn't have a pink slip. I could have danced on my desk top. I rushed home to tell Celia the good news and that her theory was wrong. She took it casually. "Remember my watch," she asked blandly. "That was the third blow, see?"

But do you know something funny? She said she dropped it. I found her shoe on the dresser amidst some bits of broken glass, and some glass was stuck in the heel. You don't suppose the heel of her shoes met that watch on purpose—or, do you?

There Is a Way To Repeal Income Tax Amendment

By Wright A. Patterson

THE FEDERAL CONSTITUTION provides two methods of amending that document.

The one method with which we are familiar calls for the passage of a resolution by Congress, followed by ratification of the proposed amendment by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

The other provides for passage by any state legislature of a demand for an amendment and then ratification of that demand by the legislatures of two-thirds of the states.

The second method bypasses Congress entirely. The Los Angeles Times referred to this method of amendment as a "club provided for the states for the protection of states' rights."

It is now being considered as a method of repealing the amendment that made possible the taxing of federal income taxes. This would force the national government out of the field of tax revenue and leave it to the states to provide for state expenditures and would stop the "grants in aid" that now represents the largest of the national government out of federal taxes in exchange for which the states surrender much of their sovereignty.

It took a long time to secure the enactment of the 16th amendment, the income tax amendment, by the needed three-fourths of the state legislatures, even when the amendment was backed by the powerful influence of Theodore Roosevelt.

Twenty-one states have voted for the calling of a constitutional convention. A vote of 32 is necessary to call one.

When such a convention meets it can propose such an amendment, or amendments, and then three-fourths of the states must ratify the proposed changes to make them effective.

Limit to federal taxation is bringing action from the states. The proposal has been made to repeal the 16th amendment and substitute one that would limit the federal to 25 per cent, leaving a share for state and local governments.

With the federal government now owning a large portion of the land within the state boundaries and withholding it from state and local taxation and with the seizure of tide land oil, the federal government is depriving the states of a source of revenue. There are more and more sources of state revenue being jeopardized.

Many officials fear there will be nothing left on which to levy state taxes unless a way can be found to halt the grabbing of the source of state tax revenue.

When state and local governments can no longer finance their operations, they must, of necessity, pass out of existence, leaving all government functions to Congress. A new concept of taxes on a national basis is needed. Certain levies should be provided for the support of the national government with no provisions for federal "grants in aid." Other tax fields should be left open to state and local governments.

That would be in line with what Congress has been talking without making any attempt to effectuate their idea. Now, a constitutional convention, called by 32 state legislatures, may start the idea rolling.

Want to be sure about it all? Would you like to learn more about that "club" in the hands of the states? Read Article V of the Constitution of the United States. It is there, with the processes required well stated. A constitutional convention is in the making.

Our fears of the big, bad Russian Bear are home inspired, and that fear has been built for a partisan purpose. The people of Europe, 3,000 miles nearer the Red army than we are, have no thought of war with Russia. They are willing to fight if the needs come, but they have no expectation of an attack by Communist Russia in any conceivable future. Fact is, there is more likely to be a revolution within Russia, involving the Red army, than a World War III, but our home manufactured war scare provides an emergency for us. Emergencies were the foundation on which the bureaucratic army was started and has been built, and that is definitely partisan political.

CLEM WHITTAKER, Jr.

The spirit of San Francisco hasn't changed. It's the same, gay cosmopolitan city where in 1945 the United Nations was born. With its warm yet metropolitan hospitality, California's city by the Golden Gate, San Francisco, is the epitome of what once was Paris—a natural and fitting setting for momentous international conferences.

This is the era of the Pacific. California is the gateway to the Orient, San Francisco, with the delegates of every major Nation in the world trodding its famed Nob Hill, Fisherman's Wharf and Market Street, is California's own living room for entertaining the world once again.

Yet a different atmosphere pervades the country this 1951 while the signing of the Japanese Peace treaty centers in California, than did in 1945 when the United Nations first struggled into existence.

Now, rightly or wrongly, the Russian delegation is ostracized and, to an extent, feared. In 1945, Red Russia was the friend of the West. Pictures of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin, side by side, were blazoned across newspaper front pages. Western and Soviet diplomats conferred together on how the world could be made peaceful, once and for all. Hopes were high and men's hearts beat faster in anticipation of a glorious peace.

Today, the Russian delegation resides in solitary splendor some 15 miles south of San Francisco, at the renowned Uplands, former Crocker estate which represents all that is rich and powerful in capitalism.

Today the Russian delegation is shunned and every effort is made to belittle and circumvent it.

Today hopes are not high. The hope, expressed or not, in the signing of the Japanese Peace Treaty is that Red Russia can be contained—that the scourge of Sovietism can be boxed into a party of Asia and that Japan, our erstwhile enemy, will be a bulwark of the defense.

Today Western delegates don't crowd into pictures with the Soviet and speak of Europe, as in 1945.

The thought is of the Pacific reaches beyond California's shores. The politicians traipse to Japan, Formosa, the Philippines, and Indo-China to let the people know of their grasp of world affairs. Europe, now, is something far and distant. The Pacific, now, is something distinct and foreboding.

Few would presume to say with certainty what the effect of the Japanese Peace Treaty will be in respect to peace for the world. Even while the delegates still ride San Francisco's historic cable cars and throng its hotels, however, the world may be sure that the full crad of the Pacific is at hand—that Kipling was not right, East and West must meet, peacefully or a new war is upon us.

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORAIS

Opponents of large scale reclamation and water development undertakings by the Federal government have often pointed out that the cost must be unfairly borne by everyone while benefits accrue only to a few.

Southern California objectors to the proposed Central Arizona Project have made effective use of statistics showing that the Project would cost Minnesotans some 38 million dollars, Rhode Islanders 11 millions, Ohioans 120 millions and Californians 172 millions.

Critics of the Tennessee Valley Authority pointedly observe that the Tennessee River passes through three States and drains the other forty-five.

Recently, to combat such criticism, Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman cited figures to show that the Bureau of Reclamation's construction of California's Central Valley Project has helped not just California but all the States as well.

According to the Secretary, nearly 100 million dollars, was spent by the Bureau for materials and equipment for CVP. Purchases were made in every State of the Union. California, naturally topped the list with expenditures made here of $57,136,000, but other States were big suppliers: New York, $7,632,000; Pennsylvania, $4,782,000; Wisconsin, $6,277,000; Illinois, $4,361,000.

Secretary Chapman also maintained that for every man employed on the job site, two others were provided with employment elsewhere in material supply industries. Thus, when the CVP labor force reaches its peak of 10,000, employment was furnished some 20,000 men in other States.

These benefits of course, both to California and other States, also would have transpired had CVP remained a California project instead of being financed and controlled by the Bureau of Reclamation. And a good case can be made that Californians, through Federal taxes, have more than paid for the cost of CVP without outside help. The Turlock Journal recently pointed out:

"Californians pay from 3 1/2 to 4 billions of dollars each year to Uncle Sam in taxes. Uncle Sam, over a period of years since 1937, constructed Shasta dam, at a cost of little over $100 millions; built Keswick dam; Delta cross channel; pumping plant and other installations at Tracy, at a cost of 21 millions; built the Mendota canal which runs down the West Side; built the Friant dam, and the Friant-Kern and Madera canals. The sum total of these projects is reported to be 400 millions.

In other words, since 1937 the 400 millions spent on CVP is just 11.43 percent—slightly over one-eighth—of the annual tax bill Californians now pay to Uncle Sam.

In light of those figures, it would seem that California could well have kept local control of the CVP undertaking, even though the depression and war years, avoided many of the conflicts and difficulties that have arisen with the Bureau of Reclamation and avoided any charges by other states of "gouging" the U. S. Treasury.

Dr. Graham H. Stuart, Stanford political science prof. — "We need our armed forces—but their tasks will be easier if our foreign policies merit defense."

BETTER HEALTH for all

Heart Disease

A diagnosis of heart trouble is frequently associated in people's minds with sudden death. But, heart disease does not necessarily mean "death overnight." Thousands of people with damaged hearts are leading normal, useful lives under the care of their doctors.

There are many kinds of heart ailments, affecting infants and children as well as adults. A few infants are born with heart defects which, in many cases, modern surgery is able to correct.

Rheumatic fever, mainly a disease of childhood and youth, leads the disease of infections which frequently damage the young heart. Diphtheria, pneumonia, scarlet fever, and influenza also may lead to heart injuries. These diseases require prompt medical care during the acute stage, medical supervision during recuperation, and periodic checkups afterwards—to give the child protection against permanent heart ills.

The two most common forms of heart ailments during middle and old age are hypertensive heart disease and coronary heart disease. The hypertensive form is heart strain brought on by high blood pressure. Coronary heart disease is a disease of the arteries which carry blood to the heart muscles. People who suffer from both these diseases can live long, useful lives if they carefully follow their doctor's directions.

Heart attacks rarely snuff out a person's life without warning. Warnings which may mean heart trouble are shortness of breath, irregular heart beats, swelling of feet and ankles, and chronic fatigue. The person who suspects he has heart disease should see his doctor without delay. If the heart is sound, the doctor can reassure the patient. But if there is something wrong, it is best to have discovered it as soon as possible. For then a person can learn how to "live with" his injured heart and perhaps ward off sudden or untimely death.

Workshop Story

trict honored at a luncheon at the Community Center by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club.

The remainder of the day was spent by the faculty in preparing rooms for classes and drawing supplies.

On Thursday an art workshop for primary grade teachers was held during the a. m. session by Miss Elizabeth Robbins, junior high art teacher. The workshop featured techniques in spatter painting, paper craft, lettering and perspective drawing. A similar program was scheduled for middle and upper grade teachers during the afternoon.

A highlight of the day was a dessert luncheon served to the faculty and other school personnel by the combined executive boards of the 3 P.T.A.'s in the district.

New teachers met on Thursday with administrators, and during this orientation program they were acquainted with district policies.

That evening at 8 a meeting for parents and teachers of all kindergarten children was held at the Lemon Grove School. The program for the class was described and parents were told how they could help both the child and the school.

Building meetings opened the last day of the workshop. Mrs. Mildred Massler of the County Health Service Center discussed the importance of improving and then maintaining high health standards in the classrooms. Miss Mabel Holmud and Miss Edith Swanson, school nurses here, listed the duties of both nurses and teachers in regard to inspections and doctor reports.

Mrs. Rita Von Meeden, administrators secretary, outlined for all teachers the new central accounting system to be used in the recording of absences.

Before noon the Lemon Grove teachers met their room-mates who will aid them throughout the year with assistance on field trips, class projects, social activities, etc. A few teachers held open house for all parents in the afternoon.

During the entire workshop each new teacher was assisted by a "big brother" or "big sister." These teachers made it their job to welcome newcomers and to assist them whenever possible at the workshop or during these first few weeks of school.

Young Mother Victim of Polio

Memorial services were conducted Monday afternoon by the Rev. J. Morris Mulkey for Mrs. Deane R. Smith, who passed away on September 1 of polio at San Diego Hospital. Services were at Erickson-Anderson Mortuary and interment was in Fort Rosecrans National Memorial Cemetery.

Alene Juanita Jones, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Julian A. Jones, was born in Pine Bluff, Ark., on May 6, 1929. Her father being in the Navy, the family lived in many different localities. She retained her membership in First Baptist Church, Galveston, Texas.

Alene was married to Deane R. Smith at the First Baptist Church in San Diego on July 2, 1948. They had lived in Bellevue, Wash., until last November, when Sgt. Smith was called back into the Marines. Alene came to live with her parents at 9272 Brookside Circle. Last April their little son, Richard Deane, was born.

Mrs. Smith became ill on August 26 and the next day was taken to the hospital where doctors pronounced her illness to be polio. She failed rapidly and on Saturday passed away soon after being placed in an iron lung.

Red Cross, U. S. Navy and other organizations did everything possible to contact her husband. He had not been informed of her passing until his plane arrived in Tacoma, Wash. He was taken via plane to Los Angeles but unable to get a plane to San Diego came by automobile, arriving about five minutes after the Memorial services had started.

Besides the husband, son and parents, Mrs. Smith is survived by a sister, Mrs. Tilley Keller of Snohomish, Wash., her grandmother, Mrs. Sally Phillips of Pine Bluff, Ark., an aunt, Mrs. Maxine Pearo, of Beaumont, and uncles, Leon Phillips of El Monte, and Floyd Phillips of San Diego, who were all here for the services.

The family has the sympathy of the entire community.

The other class will be on each Friday morning from 9 to 12 at the Amherst Church, corner of 10th and Amherst, beginning September 21. Adults interested may register in class, and further information about any of the adult school classes may be obtained by calling the school, Homeland 6-4155.

Another popular class, initiated by Mrs. Boutwell during summer school, will be continued this fall at the request of those attending "The Art of Living" class will meet every Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon in Amherst Church. ### Predicts Intensity Polio Cases for 1951

ANN ARBOR — Approximately 27,000 cases of polio will occur in the United States during 1951, a University of Michigan school of public health statistician has predicted.

"There are a number of reasons for supposing that 1951 will be a far less severe year for polio than the record year of 1949 during which about 43,000 cases were reported," Dr. Fay M. Hemphill indicated.

Dr. Hemphill's "guesstimate" is based on figures supplied to him through the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., by the United States public health service which receives weekly reports from the various state health departments throughout the nation.

HUSBAND HAPPY—HIS CONSTIPATION GONE

"My husband is a different man since he started to eat ALL-BRAN a year ago. For years he'd take a harsh laxative every morning and again at night. Now ALL-BRAN alone keeps him regular," Mrs. A.M. Eurney, Cobb Island, Md., one of many unsolicited letters from ALL-BRAN users. This may be your answer to constipation due to lack of dietary bulk. Eat an ounce (about 1/2 cup) of crispy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water. If not satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. ## MRS. CAMERON FINDS RELIEF FROM HER STOMACH DISTRESS

HADACOL Helps Folks Who Suffer Stomach Distress and Sleeplessness Caused by an Upset Stomach, If Due to a Deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

Life is wonderful when you feel well. And in order to feel well, folks just must get a good night's sleep, but that is sometimes pretty difficult when you suffer from stomach distress. Mrs. Evelyn Cameron of 1841 48th Avenue, San Francisco, California, says this used to be her problem. She suffered with stomach distress and bloating which prevented her from getting a full night's sleep. Then she heard how folks who suffered from these ailments when due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron were being helped by today's great HADACOL. Mrs. Cameron started taking HADACOL and soon felt so much better. Now she says that she thinks HADACOL is marvelous and is more than happy to recommend it.

There is what she says: "I used to have such stomach distress—would have so much bloating after meals. This was not only very uncomfortable but prevented me from sleeping. I would go to bed and then not be able to sleep. I started taking HADACOL—I had heard so much about it. Well, after just a couple of weeks I felt so much better. I was no longer bothered by my stomach, and I could sleep so wonderfully well. I go to bed now and get a full night's sleep. I wake up in the morning feeling so fresh and rested. HADACOL is certainly marvelous and I am more than happy to recommend it."

Yes, HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of stomach distress and sleeplessness due to an upset stomach when due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in the system.

AND EVEN MORE IMPORTANT! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps prevent these ailments from returning when due to such deficiencies. Now, that's the kind of product you have been waiting for. That's the kind you should buy and start taking at once. And HADACOL is so easy to take—comes in pleasant liquid form and is so easily and quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work for you immediately.

Business Activity To Continue on High Level

A high level of business activity is indicated for the fall and Christmas shopping seasons, Anderson Borthwick, president of the First National Trust and Savings Bank, said this week.

"The rapid growth of the San Diego County market over the last 12 months has created tremendous buying potential for the retail merchants who take advantage of this expansion," Borthwick said. However, he warned.

"Consumers presently are more selective than at any time since the outbreak of the Korean War, and they are saving a larger percentage of their income. Nevertheless, the fact that in San Diego County we have practically full employment at relatively high wages has created a vast potential for aggressive stores."

Borthwick cited several growth factors and other statistical indices which he said will benefit merchants in all sections of the San Diego trade area:

1. Manufacturing employment in the county increased from 28,595 to approximately 42,000 between September 1, 1950 and September 1, 1951—a gain of almost 30 percent.

2. Military payrolls at San Diego installations have increased from a monthly rate of $11,316,000 in September, 1950 to more than 15 million dollars at the present time.

3. Factory weekly earnings in San Diego, according to the California Department of Industrial Relations, have moved from an average of $59.53 to $71.86 during the last 12 months—an increase of 20 percent.

4. San Diego bank deposits during the first eight months of 1951 were 33.8 percent above the corresponding period of a year ago.

5. Conservative estimates place San Diego County's population at 10 to 15 percent above the April 1950 total—a fact of great importance in determining the volume of fall and winter retail trade.

Borthwick said one of the weak spots in the present economy, which each merchant will have to solve in his own way, is the higher level of inventory in relation to sales.

During the last 12 months, Borthwick said, Federal Reserve Bank reports show that inventory has climbed more rapidly than retail sales in every month but one. Actually, sales have been at a record peak in every month but two (July and August) but stocks have increased at an even faster rate.

The present period of full employment will provide merchants an opportunity to make whatever adjustments seemed to be indicated by individual situations.

Ask Observance of Constitution Day

Constitution Day, Monday, September 17, is to be observed throughout San Diego County, according to a proclamation issued this week by the County Board of Supervisors. The proclamation urged "all citizens, schools, veterans' organizations, and civic clubs to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies and display of flags."

The proclamation also invited ministers of all religious faiths to participate by preaching sermons appropriate to the day on Sunday, September 16, and urged their help in making "Constitution Day a day of real significance to our San Diego County citizens."

Immediate acceptance of the proposal by church groups was revealed in San Diego with the announcement by Leland Cook, Sr., of the San Diego Council of Churches that both sermons and Sunday school lessons in many churches would follow the recommendations of the Supervisors' proclamation and of a similar proclamation issued by Mayor John D. Butler, of San Diego, "This observance," Cook said, "ties in with our ideas of stressing loyalty to the ideals that have made our nation great."

Plans for the local observance of Constitution Day was developed by the Constitutional Foundation, headed by Russell Stowell, president. Rear Adm. Leslie E. Gehres, U. S. N., ret., executive vice president of the Foundation declared, "The anniversary of the Constitution should mean more to us than the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration was a statement of grievances, of hope, and of intent to form a free nation. The Constitution was the consummation of that declaration. Its adoption marked the real beginnings of our America."

Horse Show at Escondido Sunday

Horse lovers throughout Southern California, particularly Juniors, are expectantly looking forward to the annual Horse Show and Gymkana of the Escondido Junior Valley Riders, on Sunday, at the Escondido Valley Riders field, Washington and Rose Streets, Escondido. The proceeds from this show will go to the Crippled Children's Society of San Diego.

A full day's program has been planned, consisting of 14 events, limited to children 17 years of age and under. The Horsemanship classes will be held in the morning, and in the afternoon after the Grand Entry. The classes are planned to be all action and excitement, as the kids, and also adults, seem to enjoy this type of show most. The show will be recognized officially by the San Diego Junior Horsemen's Association as a point show, and is bringing out some of the finest youthful equestrians in the Southern part of the State. According to Sally Westmoreland, secretary, the entries are coming in very fast, from all over Southern California, and the success of the show is already assured.

Escondido merchants and individuals have backed this Junior classic 100 percent by sponsoring the different events, donating food, furnishing transportation for the Crippled Children from San Diego to attend the show, and otherwise contributing. There will be no admission charge to the show, but free will donations for the Crippled Children will be accepted during the program.

The events will start at 9:00 o'clock in the morning and the afternoon session begins at 1:00 p. m.

FARM NEWS AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

Manual Shows Various
Farm House Plans

Will your house fit your family's needs? That question is the opening one in a manual titled "California Farm House Plans" recently made available by the University Agricultural Extension Service office at 4005 Rosecrans Street, San Diego.

The manual first gives a check sheet of points to keep in mind if a family plans to remodel, build, or buy a house. It states that in every home the work areas should be centrally located so a minimum number of steps are required to reach sleeping and living areas and main entrances. It suggests to families, "Select the plan that suits the way your family lives."

The manual presents eleven plans for houses of various sizes and arrangements. The plans were prepared by the University Agricultural Extension Service. General construction details are given on two sheets. There are no detailed specifications for any one plan, since most families will make changes in any basic plan they select.

Take Care of the Oaks

A fine large oak tree and sometimes groups of them are prized possessions of many home owners. And so it is a keen disappointment when they die.

Farm Advisor E. C. Moore, University of California Agricultural Extension Service, says too much water is often the cause of difficulty. Oaks are accustomed to dry summer conditions and good drainage. Lawns, rhododendrons, and other plants requiring much water are often planted under the trees and they die from too much water.

He says the best thing to have under an oak tree when landscaping the home grounds is a living area covered with stone or tile. Space between the stones or tiles should permit percolation of air and water. If plants are set around the oaks, they should be plants that take water occasionally. Especially, the immediate area about the trunk of the tree should be free of plants that require much water.

Many oaks are killed in home grounds, also, by filling in about the trunk when the ground area is graded following construction. If this is necessary, a well should be built about the trunk with masonry.
